

OUR PROMISE

Young adults are graduating from mainstream special education programs with limited options for education and employment. There are also deficits in the labor market, especially in skilled labor.

St. Coletta of Wisconsin has a proven track record bringing together the skills of young adults with special needs and the demands of area businesses.

With more than a century of history, St. Coletta has educated and trained people with disabilities to be successful both in their work and personal lives. Many of these people are living full lives of dignity, choice and independence, as contributing members of their communities.

Genesis is designed to serve adults either currently attending, recently graduating or recently completing high school.

Rooted in St. Coletta's tradition and history, the purpose of the Genesis Project was developed to support program participants to learn skills and behaviors, to become exceptional employees and leaders in their community and exhibit the core values of St. Coletta. We foster individual successes by establishing productive relationships with schools, employers, ADRC, DVR and other community members. Our individuals acquire practical knowledge, skill training and experience reflection.

CLASSROOM
Students learn to every day living skills through activities in class.

COMMUNITY
Our students work closely within the community at local businesses and volunteer.

OUR GOAL

The goal of the Genesis Project is to develop relevant skills, behaviors and attitudes that are essential for the participants to become independent, responsible, valued and contributing members of the community.
